LETTER FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Dear Friends,

As we celebrate the fourth anniversary of its founding, I am pleased to welcome you to Gallim Dance, a vibrant community of artists creating and presenting work that challenges our physicality, the approach to dance, and the audience’s imagination. In these four years together, the dancers, our collaborators, and I have constructed a movement vocabulary and a world of ideas that reflect who we are as individuals, our dreams and our weaknesses, our humor, and our darkness. It all gets translated into works that are full of layers, surprises, and above all, movement that pushes the limits of risk and virtuosity. I hope that the enclosed materials will open a window to the world of Gallim. I look forward to sharing our work with you.

All the best,
Andrea Miller
Artistic Director

ABOUT THE COMPANY

Founded in 2006 by choreographer Andrea Miller, Gallim Dance is a New York City based company that quickly caught the attention of the dance community. Known for its visceral movement that creates a lasting resonance in the conscience, Gallim Dance includes an award-winning ensemble of dancers hailed for their quick wit, morphing physical quality, and technical virtuosity. Miller’s works are simultaneously kinetic and intimate expressions of the self and its dialogue with identity, sensuality, and search of meaning. Called “gloriously quirky” by Dance Magazine and noted in The New York Times for its “visceral excitement, fervor and undeviating commitment”, the company has performed in many premiere venues and festivals including The Joyce Theater, Jacob’s Pillow, Spoleto Festival USA, New York City Center’s Fall for Dance festival, Chutzpah! Festival, Joyce SoHo, White Bird Dance, Movement Research at Judson Church, Dance Theater Workshop, Alvin Ailey Citigroup Theater, and The Juilliard Theater among others. Miller’s 2008 work Blush has been selected by the National Dance Project for a 2011-2012 Touring Award, which provides Gallim with meaningful support to bring Blush on tour to various cities throughout the US. The company has also received support from The American Music Center, Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS, First Republic Bank, The Jerome Foundation, Lower Manhattan Cultural Council, The Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation’s USArtists International, New York City Department of Cultural Affairs, The O’Donnell-Green Music and Dance Foundation, The Princess Grace Foundation, and The Trust for Mutual Understanding.

ANDREA MILLER

Born in SLC, Utah, Andrea Miller is a graduate of the Juilliard School where she received her BFA in Dance. Upon graduating, Andrea joined Ohad Naharin’s Ensemble Batsheva in Israel where she performed the work of Naharin and Sharon Eyal, resident choreographer. Andrea has also performed as a guest with Cedar Lake, Limon Dance Company, and The Buglisi Dance Theatre. Prior to attending Juilliard, Miller was a student and performer of Doris Humphrey’s works and solos under the direction of Ernestine Stodelle and Gail Corbin.

In 2006 Miller returned to NYC to establish Gallim Dance, a contemporary dance company that supports the creation and performance of her choreography. As a sought-after choreographer, she has been noteworthy for her use of extreme physicality – movement that shifts between explosive power and contained tension – and the ability to create an experience where the dancers appear at the edge of their limits. Her work reveals a unique coexistence of classicism and primitivism, with remarkable idiosyncrasies that seamlessly weave together the elegant and the raw in a breathtaking surprise. The New York Times has praised Miller for her “voluptuously polyglot choreography.” Her work has also been described as “wrenching and moving” (Dance Europe), and MN Artists wrote, “Everywhere you look, there’s a collision that unhinges the nerves, breakneck partnering that wracks the heart.”

Miller was awarded the 2009 Princess Grace Foundation Fellowship in Choreography, 2010 Princess Grace Foundation USA Works in Progress Award, and was selected for Dance Magazine’s 2009 “25 to Watch.” She is also the recipient of the Youth America Grand Prix award for Emerging Choreographers. Her work has been presented throughout the US, Canada, and Europe. In addition, Miller is the associate choreographer with Noord Nederlandse Dans. Select companies in the US and Europe are touring Miller’s work currently. In May 2011, Ballet Bern will be performing Howl at the Royal Opera House 2.

Recent commissions include Dance Theater Workshop (January 2011), Ballet Bern, Ballet Hispanico, Noord Nederlandse Dans, The Juilliard School, Installation at SportMAX, Hubbard Street 2, Zenon Dance, Hedwig Dances, Arts Umbrella, New Jersey Dance Theatre Ensemble, Repertory Dance Theatre, Body Traffic, Northwest Dance Project, and Springboard Danse Montreal. In collaboration with Alexandra Wells, Miller helped to develop Movement Invention Project, a summer program for improvisation and movement invention. She has taught movement and created works for dancers and actors at The Juilliard School, SUNY Purchase, The Ailey School, Sarah Lawrence, Wesleyan, SUNY Brockport, and Stella Adler.

Caroline is spear-heading Gallim’s outreach program.

Jonathan Windham (Dancer) is a native of Colorado, and studied dance at SUNY Purchase with a concentration in ballet. After Purchase, he spent a season with American Repertory Ballet. Jonathan has also worked with The Kevin Wynn Collective and Terra Firma Dance Theatre where he danced works by Septime Webre as well as in the original stage and film version of “Vesper” directed by Brock Labrenz. The Film premiered at the Sans Souci Festival of Dance Cinema in Barcelona, Spain in summer 2010. Jonathan performed as a soloist in the world premier of “El Corregidor y la Molinera” choreographed by Ramon Oller at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. He has been working with the DASH Ensemble since 2006 and has performed at the Aliley Citygroup Theatre, Jacob’s Pillow Inside/Out stage, and Cedar Lake Contemporary Ballet’s theater. In addition he has danced works by George Balanchine, Twyla Tharp, and Graham Lustig. On his performance in Miller’s Wonderland, the NY Post wrote, “An airborne Jonathan Windham, a skinny dancer with arms like tentacles, ingeniously turns lip-syncing into choreography.” In September 2010 Jonathan appeared on the cover of City Center’s Fall for Dance advertisements. Jonathan joined Gallim in December 2009.

Arika Yamada (Dancer) hails from Motor City Michigan. At age 7 she experienced her first plie. She trained at The Joffrey Ballet School followed by 2 years and at The Nutmeg Conservatory. It will premiere at Middlebury in September 2011. Arika joined Gallim Dance in 2009.

REPERTORY

BLUSH
Blush is an invigorating work dense with emotion and physical exertion that investigates themes of intimacy, instability, and the desire of the heart and body to feel strongly. Movement that draws... from Butoh and ballet is set to a collage of music ranging from Chopin to Electro Punk. As the battlefield of the dance develops six dancers covered in white paint increasingly make contact, harsh movement leads to achingly tender moments. The raw, explosive power of Blush exposes the dancers’ rosy flesh and the ecstasy of their existence.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

I. PRAYER TO VANI, GODDESS OF THE ARTS AND KNOWLEDGE

II. GANAPATI VANDANA -
Raga Ahir Bhairav, mishra chaapu (7 beats)
Music and Lyrics Vinayak Netke

A hommage to Ganapati, or Ganesha, the elephant-headed God.
Ganesha is the first deity that is invoked at all new beginnings. He destroys all obstacles and symbolises joy, compassion, and all that is auspicious.

“Glory to you Ganesha, with your graceful elephant head, and swaying trunk.
We offer you our first salutations, seeking your blessings. Your, our protector, with your golden body shining, your lotus-like hands, and your gem-studded crown.
Our hearts bloom in your light, and we joyfully sing your name.”

III. TARANGAM
Ragamalika, adi talam (8 beats)
Lyrics Sri Narayana Tirtha Music J. Ramesh

Tarangam, “waves” in Sanskrit, is the name that we give to the devotional songs composed by the saint Narayana Tirtha, one of the founders of Kuchipudi. The Tarangam dance showcases a great variety of Kuchipudi steps, while portraying the chosen poem. One part of the choreography is danced on a brass plate, a special feature of this style.
This Tarangam is dedicated to Shiva, the Lord of Dance.

“O Shiva, the great venerable one, may you always be in my heart.
You wear the brilliant crescent moon on your head, from your matted locks flows the river Ganges.
You are the protector of the Universe.
You live on the sacred Mount Kailasa. A smile of yours is enough to destroy evil demons.
You wear a snake with five hoods around your chest; you are the supreme ascetic.
Your dance of infinite joy and power destroys all our sorrows,
Salutations to you, O Shiva.”
IV. TANI-DVAYAM -
A Rhythmic duet.
Starting out with a regular, continuous beat, like a heartbeat, the two percussionists take turns in developing various rhythmic patterns: some based on complex calculations, others on the play of sounds and syllables, or accelerations...an infinity of possibilities.
Little by little, their beats come together and finally merge into one common pattern, woven onto the regular beat they started from.

V. KIRTANAM -
Raga Mukhari, khanda chaapu (5 beats)
Music and lyrics Sri Annamacharya
A narrative dance based on a romantic poem.
Goddess Padmavati addresses her husband Lord Venkateshwara:

"In my dream, we had a fight. I woke up with a start, and then, realising that it was only a dream, relieved, I embraced you."

Often women get upset hearing their husbands' harsh words. But we don't have this habit between us. And if by chance your words to me are not sweet enough, I wither like a flower losing her petals. But in my dream we were really having a fight! And I was so upset! The coolness of the moon turned in to a solar furnace. I used the sandalwood cream instead of the kasturi cream, you should have seen my face! "O Venkateshwara, if you leave me, I will not be able to bear it » I thought!

I dreamt all this, forgetting our love for each other. And then I woke-up with a start, and embraced you."

VI. TILLANA -
Raga Tilang, aditalam (8 beats)
Music and Lyrics Sri Lalguidi Jayaram
A dynamic and rhythmic dance, Tillana develops the different elements of pure dance: movements of the eyes, of the neck, hand gestures, footwork etc.
This Tillana is in praise of Lord Kumara, with a short poem that says:

"In the temple of my heart, you are like a flood of light and compassion that washes away all darkness, O Kumara, you who love to play with peacocks."

VII PASAYADÂN –
Raga Sindhubhairavi
Lyrics Dyaneshwar / Music Hridayanath Mangeshkar
Pasyadan is a prayer composed by the very young saint Dyaneshwar. At the age of 21, having completed this text, he experienced a flow of divine ecstasy, went into deep meditation and left his physical body.
Pasyadan invokes divine grace and blessings, peace and joy for all beings.

KUCHIPUDI
Kuchipudi is a classical dance form of South India. It takes its name from a small village called Kuchipudi, in the state of Andhra Pradesh, where it was born around the 15th century. Like all Indian classical dance forms, it's technique is rooted in the Natya Shastra, a 2000 year-old treaty on dramatics, which gives a very precise and highly developed codification of dance, music and theater.

But Kuchipudi also received the influence of the popular folk dance and music traditions which were prevalent at the time in that particular region, and which developed themes of religious devotion. The result is a style which is both highly evolved and structured, but also vibrant and lively, extremely intricate and utterly graceful. Kuchipudi uses the two important techniques, which are developed in different ways in each of the Indian classical dance styles: pure dance and expressive dance. Pure dance, nrtta, is rhythmic and abstract. The footwork executes the complex rhythmic patterns of the accompanying music, while the rest of the body, from the head to the tip of the fingers, follows sometimes with forceful precision, sometimes with flowing, graceful movements.
Expressive dance, or abhinaya, is narrative. Here, each part of the body is used to bring alive the text, poem or story, recited in the song. The hand gestures—mudras—are codified into a very precise language. The facial expressions are stylized so as to convey a wide range of complex and subtle sentiments and feelings. The whole body comes alive to communicate the emotions which arise from the song. Kuchipudi is a harmonious combination of these two aspects, where the dancer alternates or blends together, moments of pure dance, rhythmic, bright, vivacious, full of beauty and grace, and narrative moments based on the Hindu mythology, where the focus is on the use of gestures, facial expressions and body language. The Kuchipudi performance is accompanied by a live, classical orchestra, comprising singing, flute, veena and percussions. The dance, music, and rhythm are very closely interlinked, and each element is developed in relation with the other.

In the field of Kuchipudi, Master Vempati Chinna Satyam has clearly marked the last four decades. Through his dedication, extraordinary talent and sheer hard work, through his collaboration with greatly knowledgeable and sensitive scholars, composers and musicians, he brought Kuchipudi from its little village to the forefront of the artistic scene in India, and also to an international audience. He renewed and restored a diluted and cruder form of Kuchipudi, at a time when it was fading in rigor and vibrancy, forging a very personal, precisely structured, pure and elegant style.

In 1963 he founded the “Kuchipudi Art Academy” in Madras, and from there, created a repertoire of solo dances as well as dance dramas or ballets. Today, thanks to him, Kuchipudi occupies a privileged position among other Indian classical forms, and his students continue his work in and out of India.

Shantala Shivalingappa

Born in Madras, India, brought up in Paris, Shantala is the child of east and west. She grew up in a world filled with dance and music, initiated at a tender age by her mother, dancer Savitry Nair. Deeply moved and inspired by Master Vempati Chinna Satyam’s pure and graceful style, Shantala dedicated herself to Kuchipudi, and received an intense and rigorous training from her master. Driven by a deep desire to bring Kuchipudi to the western audience, she has performed in important festivals and theatres, earning praise and admiration from all.

Acclaimed as a rare dancer by artists and connoisseurs in India and Europe, Shantala combines a perfect technique with flowing grace and a very fine sensitivity. Since the age of 13, she has also had the privilege of working with some of the greatest artists of our times: Maurice Bejart, Peter Brook, Bartabas, Pina Bausch. Such experiences make her artistic journey a truly unique one.

SAMULNORI
Master Drummer and Dancers from Korea
Kim, Duk-Soo & SamulNori Hanullim
“The four musicians in the Korean ensemble known as SAMULNORI are all virtuoso percussionists.”
“SAMULNORI is a complete theatrical experience as well.”
–New York Times

“SAMULNORI offers an experience that matches unsparing energy and technical mastery with a strong sense of spirituality”
–Los Angeles Times

SamulNori: A Contemporary Tradition

SamulNori is the name of a group of four dynamic musicians dedicated to performing and preserving traditional Korean music and dance. The name also refers to the style of music they created. Since these superb percussionists formed the group in 1978, SamulNori has sparked a renaissance in Korea’s music scene and garnered worldwide acclaim more than 30 years.

The Korean words ‘samul’ means ‘four things’ and ‘nori’ means ‘to play.’ In the case of SamulNori, it refers to the four musicians playing and dancing with four percussion instruments. Founded by Kim, Duk-Soo, the group’s leader and master of the Jang-go (hourglass shape drum), SamulNori has become the leading traditional Korean performance group. The ensemble performs in many configurations but usually tours as a quartet with Master Kim at the helm. The origins of their music can be traced to what is usually referred to as farmers’ band music (Poongmul) and ceremonial music. It also incorporates the influences of folk and religious music and their intricate rhythms have become quite uniquely their own.

In 1993, SamulNori became SamulNori Hanullim Performing Arts Troupe. (‘Hanullim’ means ‘big bang.’) This growth from a four-man performance ensemble into a company of thirty artists and students meant that SamulNori’s dedication to traditional Korean arts, music, and dance over the last two decades had now become a viable educational and research enterprise.

Over the years, SamulNori toured almost every nation in the world. On their tour, they always made work-shop periods with native musicians to let them know SamulNori and Korean traditional rhythms as well as their concerts.

SamulNori has collaborated with many highly acclaimed musicians from around the world in a variety of musical styles ranging from jazz to pop. They have performed with orchestras in concerts written expressively for them and have taken part in many festivals.

The Instruments: Lightning, Wind, Rain, and Clouds

SamulNori’s music is based on the rhythms of traditional Korean folk percussion music. The “four things” refer to the four percussive instruments:

“K’kwaenggwari” (small gong) is made mainly of brass with trace of gold or silver. It is hand held and played with a bamboo mallet. One hand holds the mallet while the other hand is responsible for dampening the sound produced. The player of this instrument often plays the role of leader, signaling transitions in the music. As each instrument is associated with an element in nature, the k’kwaenggwari is related to lightning.

The “Jing” is a large gong that is struck with a padded stick. This instrument can be played in a number of ways: hung on a frame, hand-held by handle, or played with two hands. A Jing should make an osculating sound, imitating the shape of the valleys of Korea. This instrument is associated with the wind.

The “Jang-go” is often called the hourglass drum, referring to its shape, which is similar to an hourglass. The drum has two sides, each with different types of leather skin. One side produces high pitched sound while the other produces low one so this instrument can make various sounds. This instrument is associated with rain.

The “buk” is a barrel drum, made of a piece of hollowed out wood and two leather skins tied to the wood. It is played by a single stick and provides the bass sounds of the group. The buk is related to the clouds.
SAMULNORI PROGRAM NOTES

BINARI (Prayer Song)

A sweeping prayer song that used to signal the beginning of a stay at a village, Binari can now be heard at events such as the opening of a new business or building, or at a performance. The shaman sings the extensive prayer, which touches on many aspects important to Korean beliefs. It recounts the tale of creation and it calls upon the various spirits that reside in the village and homes, eventually asking for a blessing upon the people, the players and the ground they inhabit.

Placed on the altar is an abundance of food offerings to the gods and to ancestors, and a pig's head. Audience members are invited to approach the altar, bringing with them their prayers. They may also light an incense stick, pour rice wine and bow. It is customary to place an offering of money on the altar. The head of the pig signifies wealth, health and abundance; and, if an offering of money is placed in the mouth of the pig, it is believed that the prayers brought to the altar will be answered generously.

SAMDO SUL JANG-GO GARAK (Jang-go Rhythms from Three Provinces)

All performers are seated with Jang-go (hourglass drum) and play an arrangement consisting of representative Jang-go garak (rhythm patterns) of three Korean provinces. Originally, one player would fasten the Jang-go to his body and perform a showy solo piece, flaunting his unique style of dance and technique. SamulNori created this new arrangement to be played while seated, shifting the focus from showmanship to musicality.

SAMDO NONGAK GARAK (Nongak Rhythms from Three Provinces)

Samdo Nongak Garak is also an arrangement of different rhythms from the three provinces. Some of the garak that appeared in Samdo Sul Jang-go Garak also appear here, now interpreted by the four different instruments. During festivals, performers would traditionally have played these instruments while dancing, but SamulNori has broadened the scope of the many garaks that appear by playing seated and developing the musical possibilities of this arrangement.

PAN KUT (Play)

The dance features the “sangmo” (a ribboned hat) and the “bupo” (a feathered hat) which the performers will make move and spin with the energy of their dancing bodies. This particular Pan Kut is a modern rendition of the large group dances of the farming festivals made suitable for a few men on a stage. Because farmers were traditionally recruited as soldiers when a war broke out, there was a great exchange of ideas between the military musical tradition and village dances. Most of the choreography is based on military exercises, and the hats the performers wear resemble ancient helmets. It has been said that the sangmo originally had shards of glass and metal attached to the ribbon and were used as weapons during battle.

With feet treading the earth, ribbons flying upward, and rhythms sounding through the air, the players attempt to consummate the union of heaven, earth and humankind. The banner, the spiritual member of the troupe, with its stake driven into the ground, and its feathers reaching for the sky, embodies the desire for cosmic harmony.

Artistic Director: Kim, Duk-Soo

The word “genius” should not be used to describe an individual with extraordinary talents, but rather an individual who uses those talents to inspire the best from those around him. In this sense, “genius” is a fit appellation for the leader of SamulNori, Kim, Duk-Soo, born in 1952. His father chose him out of eight other siblings to follow in his footsteps as a professional musician in the tradition of wandering artists, or “Namsadang” (the troupe of Korean Traditional Performing Arts).

At the age of five he was awarded the President's citation for his performance ability, thus beginning an amazing personal career that has taken him to virtually every corner of the world. He graduated from the Korean National University of Arts and serves as artistic director of SamulNori Hanullim.

Kim, Duk-Soo, the founder of SamulNori, has been recognized as one of the fifty most influential figures in Korea through the last five decades. In addition to a busy touring schedule, Mr. Kim teaches at the Korean National University of Arts and serves as artistic director of SamulNori Hanullim.

If you think you're having a heart attack, call 911.

You need to get emergency treatment as quickly as possible. And the critical step – the life-saving step – is to get emergency treatment that includes advanced interventional procedures.

Baystate Medical Center is the only hospital in western Massachusetts with this expertise and technology. At Baystate, heart attack patients receive lifesaving angioplasty up to 25 minutes sooner than the national standard. In fact, Baystate is in the top 10% of hospitals nationwide in this critical statistic.
