Program Notes and Acknowledgements

“Men call the shadow prejudice, and learnedly explain it as a natural defense of culture against barbarism, learning against ignorance, purity against crime, the ‘higher’ against the ‘lower’ races.” – W.E.B Du Bois

In 1991, I was fourteen and entering the ninth grade at Schenley High School in the historic Hill District of Pittsburgh. That same year, John Singleton's film, Boyz N The Hood was released. For me, the film depicted an idealized “Gangsta Boheme” laying aim to the state of the Black American male at the end of the 20th century. Twenty years later and more than ten years into the 21st century, I am focused on investigating the state of Black America and a history therein.

Reimagined as a dance work and now set in Pittsburgh's historically black neighborhoods, East Liberty, Homewood and the Hill District, Pavement, aims to create a strong emotional chronology of a culture conflicted with a history plagued by discrimination, genocide, and a constant quest for a lottery ticket weighted in freedom.

Looking primarily at Homewood and the Hill District, their histories run parallel. Both experienced a cultural shift in the 1950's when jazz legends like Ella Fitzgerald and Duke Ellington performed at local theaters, and Billy Strayhorn spent most of his teenage years. A half a century later, those same theaters became dilapidated. The streets that once flourished on family run businesses and a thriving jazz scene, now show the sad effects of gang violence and crack cocaine.

To our collaborators and supporters and the amazing staff of A/I/M, Danspace Project, Harlem Stage, Hobart and William Smith Colleges, The Joyce Theater Foundation, MANCC and NDP, thank you for believing in this project and for all that you’ve done to get this show up and running! To anyone who has ever supported my work by either donating to the company, recommending my work, or simply attending one of our shows in the city, at a time when there are so many wonderful options, thank you for spending your time with us this evening.

The creation and presentation of Pavement is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts in cooperation with the New England Foundation for the Arts though the National Dance Project. Major support for NDP is provided by the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation and The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, with additional support from the Community Connections Fund of the MetLife Foundation. Support from the NEA provides funding for choreographers in the early stages of their careers. Developed in part during a Choreographic Fellowship at the Maggie Alleelee National Center for Choreography at Florida State University, Pavement was also created during a residency provided by The Joyce Theater Foundation, New York City, with major support from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation as well as during a residency provided by The Joyce Theater Foundation, New York City, with major support from The Rockefeller Foundation's NYC Cultural Innovation Fund and the Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

The creation of Pavement was made possible, in part, by the Danspace Project Commissioning Initiative with support from the Jerome Foundation. Pavement was developed, in part, during a creative residency at the Bates Dance Festival. Pavement is made possible, in part, by Lower Manhattan Cultural Council's Swing Space program.

Harlem Stage is the Lead Commissioner of Pavement, through its WaterWorks program. Pavement had its world premiere at The Harlem Stage Gatehouse on November 2-3, 2012. WaterWorks is supported by Time Warner and the National Endowment for the Arts.
About the Company

The mission of Kyle Abraham/Abraham.In.Motion is to create an evocative interdisciplinary body of work. Born into Hip hop culture in the late 70’s and grounded in Abraham’s artistic upbringing in classical cello, piano, and the visual arts, the goal of the movement is to delve into identity in relation to a personal history. The work entwines a sensual and provocative vocabulary with a strong emphasis on sound, human behavior and all things visual in an effort to create an avenue for personal investigation and exposing that on stage. A/I/M is a representation of dancers from various disciplines and diverse personal backgrounds. Combined together, these individualities create movement that is manipulated and molded into something fresh and unique. Abraham.In.Motion is a proud supporter of Dancers Responding to AIDS.

Kyle Abraham/Abraham.In.Motion is a member of Pentacle (Dance Works, Inc.) a non-profit service organization for the performing arts, Mara Greenberg and Ivan Sygoda, Directors. 246 West 38th Street, 4th, New York, NY 10018. Tel. 212-278-8111; Fax 212-278-8555. Web site: www.pentacle.org

2012 Jacob’s Pillow Dance Award recipient and 2012 USA Ford Fellow, Kyle Abraham, began his training at the Civic Light Opera Academy and the Creative and Performing Arts High School in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He continued his dance studies in New York, receiving a BFA from SUNY Purchase and an MFA from NYU Tisch School of the Arts.

In November 2012, Abraham was named the newly appointed New York Live Arts Resident Commissioned Artist for 2012-2014. Just one month later, Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater premiered Abraham’s newest work, Another Night at New York’s City Center to rave reviews. Rebecca Bengal of Vogue writes, “What Abraham brings to Ailey is an avant-garde aesthetic, a original and politically minded downtown sensibility that doesn’t distinguish between genres but freely draws on a vocabulary that is as much Merce and Martha as it is Eadweard Muybridge and Michael Jackson.”

In 2011, OUT Magazine labeled Abraham as the “best and brightest creative talent to emerge in New York City in the age of Obama”.

Abraham received a prestigious Bessie Award for Outstanding Performance in Dance for his work in The Radio Show, and a Princess Grace Award for Choreography in 2010. The previous year, he was selected as one of Dance Magazine’s 25 To Watch for 2009.

His choreography has been presented throughout the United States and abroad, most recently at On The Boards, South Miami-Dade Cultural Arts Center, REDCAT, Philly Live Arts, Portland’s Time Based Arts Festival, Jacob’s Pillow Dance Festival, Danspace Project, Dance Theater Workshop, Bates Dance Festival, Harlem Stage, Fall for Dance Festival at New York’s City Center, Montreal, Germany, Jordan, Ecuador, Dublin’s Project Arts Center, The Okinawa Prefectural Museum & Art Museum located in Okinawa Japan, The Andy Warhol Museum and The Kelly-Strayhorn Theater in his hometown of Pittsburgh, PA.

In addition to performing and developing new works for his company, Abraham.InMotion, Abraham also teaches his unique approach to post-modern dance in various schools and studios throughout the United States, and is currently working on a new pas de deux for himself and acclaimed Bessie Award winning dancer and New York City Principle, Wendy Whelan while creating new works for his company A/I/M.

I thought you were beside me,
but it was only a sweet, false dream.
The rosy Aurora arises in the sky and the grass and flowers are coloured as Phoebus emerges, golden, from the sea.
Husband, dear husband, where have you gone?
Perhaps the chase has called,
tempting your noble ardour!
Oh come, my love,
and find a sweeter prey for your snares.
Ariadne's loving heart, adoring you with constancy,
binds with ever tighter bonds and our radiant flame burns more brilliantly with our love.
I cannot bear to be separated from you for a single moment.
Ah, I am seized, my love, with the desire to see you.
My heart sighs for you. Come, my idol!

Aria (Largo)
Where are you my dear treasure?
Who tore you from my breast?
If you do not come, I will die,
I cannot bear such sorrow.
If you are merciful, O gods,
Hear my prayer,
And send my beloved back to me.
Where are you? Theseus!

Recitativo
But, to whom do I speak? Echo alone repeats my words.
Theseus does not hear me, Theseus does not responds,
and the winds and waves carry my voice away.
He must not be too far away from me.
If I climb that cliff that shows above the rest,
I will see him from there.
What is this? Heavens! Woe is me!
That is the Argive ship!
Theseus! He is at the prow!
Ah, I could be mistaken…
No, no, there is no mistake!
He flees, and leaves me behind, abandoned.
All hope is gone, I have been betrayed.
Theseus! Theseus! Hear me! Theseus!
But alas, I will go mad!
The waves and the wind are swallowing him up forever before my very eyes.
Oh, gods, you are unjust
if you do not punish the traitor! Ingrate!

Why did I save your life,
for you to betray me?
And your promises? Your vows?
Disloyal man! Deceiver! Have you the heart to leave me?
To whom will I turn? From whom seek compas-son?
I cannot stand, I am loosing foot and the bitterness of this moment makes my heart quiver in my breast.

Aria ([Larghetto] – Presto)
Oh! May death come in this dreadful hour;
But my cruel suffering
Heaven unjustly decrees.
Poor abandoned woman, with no one to console her.
He whom I so loved has fled,
Cruel and disloyal.

[Recitativo] Adagio (Sostenuto)
Teseo mio ben, ove sei? Ove sei tu?
Vicino d'averti mi parea,
ma un lusinghiero sogno fallace m'ingannò.
Già sorge in ciel la rosea Aurora,
e l'erbe e i fior colora Febo uscendo dal mar col crine aurato.
Sposo, sposo adorato, dove guidasti il piè?
Forse le fere ad inseguir ti chiamà il tuo nobile ardor.
Ah vieni, o caro,
ed offrirò più grata preda ai tuoi lacci.
Il cor d'Arianna amante, che t'adora
costante,
stringi con nodo più tenace,
e più bella la face splenda del nostro amor.
Soffrir non posso d'esser da te divisa un sol istante.
Ah di vederti, o caro, già mi strugge il desio;
ti sospira il mio cor, vieni, vieni idol mio.

Aria (Largo)
Dove sei, mio bel tesoro,
Chi t'invola a questo cor?
Se non vieni, io già mi moro,
Né resisto al mio dolor.
Se pietade avete, oh Dei,
Secondate i voti miei,
A me torni il caro ben.
Dove sei? Teseo!

Recitativo
Ma, a chi parlo? Gli accenti Eco ripete sol.
Teseo non m'ode, Teseo non mi risponde,
e portano le voci e l'aure e l'onore.
Poco da me lontano esser egli dovrà.
Salgasi quello che più d'ogni altro s'alza alpestre scoglio; ivi lo scoprirò.
Che miro? Oh stelle, miserà me, quest'è l'argivo legno!
Greci son quelli!
Teseo! Ei sulla prora!
Ah m’ingannassi almen…
no, no, non m’inganno.
Ei fugge, ei qui mi lascia in abbandono.
Più speranza non v’è, tradita io sono.
Teseo, Teseo, m’ascolta, Teseo!
Ma oimè! vaneggio!
I flutti e il vento lo involano per sempre agli occhi miei.
Ah siete ingiusti, o Dei,
se l’empio non punite! Ingrato!
Perchè ti trassi dalla morte dunque tu dovevi tradirmi!
E le promesse, e i giuramenti tuoi?
Spergiuro, infido! hai cor di lasciarmi.
A chi mi volgo, da chi pietà sperar?
Già più non reggo, il piè vacilla,
e in così amaro istante sento mancarmi in sen l’alma tremante.

ARIA
That wicked, disloyal, unworthy man, would steal my kingdom
and, in so doing, disturb my peace.
Instead, let him lose his life before his greedy heart betrays my trust.

DALL’ONDOSO PERIGLIO – AURE, DEH, PER PIETÀ
RECITATIVO ACCOMPAGNATO
Dall’ ondoso periglio salvo mi porta al lido
il mio propizio fato.
Qui la celeste Parca
non tronca ancor lo stame alla mia vita!
Ma dove andro? e chi mi porge aita?
Ove son le mie schiere,
ove son le legioni,
che a tante mie vittorie il varco apriro?
Solo in queste erme arene
al monarca del mondo errar conviene?

ARIA
Aure, deh, per pietà
spirate al petto mio,
per dar conforto, oh dio!
al mio dolor.
Dite, dov’è, che fa
l’idol del mio sen, l’amato e dolce ben di questo cor.

ACCOMPANIED RECITATIVE
My kind fate brings me safely ashore
from the dangerous waves.
Not yet does celestial Fate cut the thread of my life!
But where shall I go? Who will aid me?
Where are my cohorts?
Where are my legions, which opened the path to my many [victories?
Is it the destiny of the monarch [of the world to wander alone on these solitary [shores?

ARIA
Caesar
O breezes, for pity’s sake, breathe into my breast [to bring your comfort, oh God,
to my pain.
Tell me, where is the idol of my breast, the beloved treasure of this heart?

L’EMPIO, SLEALE, INDEGNO
ARIA
L’empio, sleale, indegno
vorria rapirmi il regno,
e disturbarmi così la pace mia.
Ma perda pur la vita,
prima che in me tradita
dall’avidor suo cor la fede sia!

G.F. HANDEL - GIULIO CESARE
EMPIO, DIRÒ, TU SEI
ARIA
Empio, dirò, tu sei,
togliti a gli occhi miei,
sei tutto crudeltà.
Non è da re quel cor,
che donasi al rigor,
che in sen non ha pietà.
(parte con seguito; parte Achilla con stuolo di egizii)

ARIA
I will speak of how pitiless you are;
leave my sight,
you are utterly cruel.
The heart of a king
does not e,
is not without pity.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

In 2003, an unusual song began airing on Israeli’s popular radio stations. With its haunting chorus in the Ethiopian language of Amharic and an exotic, global fusion sound “Bo’ee” became an instant crossover hit that catapulted The Idan Raichel Project to the top of Israel pop charts and turned a young dreadlocked keyboardist and producer into a household name in his native land. Soon, The Idan Raichel Project would become known around the world for its ambitious cross-cultural collaborations that changed the face of Israeli popular music and offered “a fascinating window into the young, tolerant, multi-ethnic Israel taking shape away from the headlines” (Boston Globe). Since the release of their first international album on Cumbancha in the fall 2006 The Idan Raichel Project has become a global ambassador representing a hopeful world in which artistic collaboration breaks down barriers between people of different backgrounds and beliefs.

Idan Raichel, the architect of this unique project, is a keyboardist, producer and composer from Kfar Saba, a city near Tel Aviv. Idan was born in 1977 to a family with Eastern European roots, and although music was an important part of his upbringing, his parents did not place much emphasis on performing music from his particular cultural background. “I think the fact that I didn’t have strong family musical roots is what made me be very open to music from all over the world,” says Idan. Idan started playing the accordion (which he likes to call “the uncoolest instrument ever”) when he was 9 years old, and even at this young age was attracted to the exotic sounds of Gypsy music and tango.

As a teenager, Idan started playing keyboards, and studied jazz in high school, which honed his skills at improvisation and working with other musicians. In Israel, military service is mandatory for all young men and women, so at 18 Idan was conscripted into the Israeli army. Ironically, it was in this military setting that Idan developed musical skills that would prove essential later in life. Rather than heading to the front lines in this volatile region, Idan joined the Army rock band and toured military bases performing covers of Israeli and European pop hits. As the musical director of the group, he became adept at arrangements and producing live shows, and turned his experience in the Army into a productive and positive one.

Idan soon became a successful backup musician and recording session player for some of Israel’s most popular singers. After a few years of helping others gain success and notoriety, Idan decided it was time to pursue a project that reflected his musical ideals, and he began working on a demo recording in a small studio he set up in the basement of his parent’s home in Kfar Saba. He thought it would be a good idea to invite a number of different singers and musicians to participate, in order to better demonstrate his distinct styles and the ways in which he worked with a variety of artists.

Idan had long been fascinated with the diversity of Israel and sought to celebrate his appreciation and respect for different cultures through his music. Because of its open door to immigrants from Jewish communities around the globe, Israel is home to a stew of cultures and traditions, including people of Middle Eastern, Mediterranean, Latin American and Eastern European roots. Yemenite Jews offer traditions that reflect thousands of years of living in the country of Yemen on the southern edges of the Arabian Peninsula. Israel’s Sephardic community consists of people who had incorporated the traditions of Spain, North Africa and the Mediterranean region where they had lived for centuries. The largest immigrant population in Israel consists of Ashkenazi Jews, who had come mostly from Russia and Eastern Europe. More recently, over 85,000 Ethiopian Jews now call Israel home after efforts to naturalize this so-called “lost tribe of Israel” through dramatic airlifts in the 1980s and 90s. In addition, there is a large Arab community, which makes up almost 20% of the official total population of Israel.

Idan invited over 70 of his friends and colleagues from Israel’s diverse music scene to participate in his recordings. He never expected his musical experiments to turn him into Israel’s biggest musical phenomenon in recent memory. Idan created the core songs of his first album as a demo, and began shopping for a record label to help him produce a full album of his own. While most of the Israeli labels considered his work too “ethnic” and too outside of the norms of the formulaic Israeli pop scene to have any hope of success, Helicon Records heard the potential in Idan’s work and quickly signed him on to the roster. The subsequent album was an immediate hit.

As the interest in the recording began to grow, demand for live shows increased, including an offer Idan couldn’t refuse from the prestigious Opera House of Tel Aviv. Given the number of musicians who participated in the recordings, it would have been impossible to have them all appear on stage, so Idan decided to pick a core group of performers in addition to himself who were both versatile and strong individual artists in their own right.

From the beginning, Idan saw the project as a collaboration between artists who each bring their own musical culture and talents to the stage. “There would be no front man,” Idan says. “I would sit at the side and watch things and see what occurs. Every song would have a different singer, we would sit in a half circle and each musician would have a chance to demonstrate what they have to offer.” The live show became symbolic of the album, as it brought together a group of people of different backgrounds but each is equal to the other. Over the years, the touring band has helped make stars of Cabra Casey, a singer of Ethiopian heritage who was born in a refugee camp in Sudan as her family was making the difficult journey to Israel, Ravid Kahalani, whose band Yemen Blues explores his Yemenite roots, and drummer Gilad Shmueli, a respected producer of many popular Israeli artists who has played an essential role in the development of The Project since the beginning. The Project also brought renewed attention to the legendary Yemenite-Israeli singer Shoshana Damari who recorded and performed with the group just before her death in 2006 at the age of 86.

This sentiment is reflected in the decision to name the collective The Idan Raichel Project. Says Raichel, “If I had called the album just ‘Idan Raichel,’ people would have thought that Raichel is the main voice on all the songs. I wrote the songs and I arranged and produced them, but I perform them together with other vocalists and musicians. On the other hand, we are not a group. It’s something in between.” To date over 95 different singers aged 16 to 91 years old from dozens of different countries and cultural backgrounds have participated in the Project’s recordings or performances.

The Idan Raichel Project has released 4 studio albums and a 3-CD collection of live recordings in Israel on the Helicon label. In 2006, the US-based record label Cumbancha released a compilation of the group’s first two albums worldwide, bringing even more renown to this inspirational collective. Billboard Magazine called The Idan Raichel Project “One of the most fascinating titles to emerge in world music this year...a multi-ethnic tour de force.” The New York Times selected the album as one of the top world music releases of the year, and media from Peru to Portugal was unanimous in their praise. The album also received a nomination as one of the best world music albums of the year by the BBC Radio 3 Award for World Music.

In 2009 the Idan Raichel Project released their second international release Within My Walls. Much of the album was recorded while Idan was on tour, during recording sessions in hotel rooms, backstage dressing areas, private homes and other impromptu settings. During his extensive travels, Idan met with scores of musicians from diverse backgrounds, and ever the collaborator, he made sure to exchange musical ideas with them. Along the way, he recorded and co-wrote songs with Colombian singer Marta Gómez, Cape Verdean luminary Mayra Andrade and the silken-voiced Somi of Rwandan and Ugandan heritage.

The Project’s spectacular live show has enchanted audiences worldwide. They have headlined in some of the world’s most prestigious venues, including New York’s Central Park Summer Stage, Apollo Theater, Town Hall and Radio City Music Hall, Los Angeles’ Kodak Theater, the Sydney Opera House, Zenith and Bataclan in Paris, London’s Royal Albert Hall and many international festivals. They have also performed across Europe, South & Central America, Hong Kong, Singapore, India, Ethiopia, South Africa, Ghana and dozens of other countries for enraptured audiences of all backgrounds.

Despite the egalitarian nature of the Project, Raichel is clearly the driving force and over the years his talents have led him to become involved in many side projects. A chance meeting with Malian guitarist Vieux Farka Touré (the son of the legendary Ali Farka Touré) led Idan to invite Vieux to Israel to perform at the Tel Aviv Opera House in November 2010. That concert resulted in the formation of The Toure-Raichel Collective and the recording of the acclaimed album The Tel Aviv Session, which was released in March 2012. The result of an inspired afternoon jam session in Tel Aviv, the resulting album was hailed by the media as “a masterpiece” (about.com), “simply divine” (Giant Step), “deeply affecting” (The Wall Street Journal), “a cross cultural triumph” (Time Out Chicago) and “the best album this year” (Pop Matters). The album reached the number one spot on the iTunes World Music sales charts and peaked at number 2 on the Billboard World Music Chart. The Touré-Raichel Collective’s US and Canada tour in April 2012 was an unparalleled success with numerous sold-out shows and rave reviews.

In 2012, Raichel received a special honor when Shimon Peres, the President of Israel and a Nobel Peace Prize laureate, asked him to compose music for a poem Peres had written in dedication to Israel’s Ethiopian community. The song, “The Eyes of Beta Israel,” was performed in front of 3000 people during a high-profile concert in Jerusalem in January 2012.

Raichel has also worked closely with GRAMMY winner India.Arie on their joint project Open Door. Idan and India have become frequent collaborators since they met in 2008 when India was visiting Israel. They performed together at the Kennedy Center in Washington DC in front of President Obama and family on the first Martin Luther King, Jr. Day after Obama’s election. Idan and India played their song “Gift of Acceptance” at the 2010 Nobel Peace Prize gala event in Oslo, Norway, and in August 2011 they performed together at the dedication ceremony for the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial in Washington DC. India and Idan toured the US together in 2011.

The Idan Raichel Project’s latest album, Quarter to Six was released in 2013. The album features guest appearances by Portuguese fado star Ana Moura, Palestinian-Israeli singer Mira Awad, German counter-tenor Andreas Scholl, Colombia’s Marta Gómez, Vieux Farka Touré and a selection of some of Israel’s top up-and-coming singers and musicians. In its review, The Associated Press commented, “The idea that one could create a cohesive album by pulling together unique voices singing in different languages and from different musical traditions would seem daunting. Yet this challenge is what Israeli keyboardist and composer Idan Raichel has embraced and brought to blossom.” In just the first two months since after it was released, Quarter to Six reached double-platinum sales status in Israel, selling over 80,000 copies.

2013 has been overflowing with praise, awards and acclaim for Idan Raichel and the Project. Raichel and the Project were honored with an invitation to perform at a private concert for President Barack Obama during his official visit to Israel in March. In July, world-renowned pop star Alicia Keys invited Raichel on stage for a special duet during her sold-out concert at Nokia Stadium in Tel Aviv. One month later, Raichel shared the stage with French superstar Patrick Bruel. In September, at the end of the Jewish year, popular Israeli entertainment magazine Pnai Plus selected Raichel as “Man of the Year” and the song “Ba’Layla (At Night)” from the Idan Raichel Project’s latest album was honored as “Song of the Year.”

In 1999 Sawhney released his fourth breakthrough Gold selling album, Beyond Skin, on London's Outcaste Records, which took a prestigious Technics Mercury Music Prize nomination and won Sawhney the coveted South Bank Show Award. After a subsequent signing to Richard Branson's V2 Records, Sawhney released the millennial epic and Silver certified Prophesy in 2001, winning a MOBO Award as well as a BBC Radio 3 Music Award. Sawhney’s seventh album, Philtre, was released in May 2005, taking yet another BBC Radio 3 Award and in 2008, his eighth album, London Undersound, released on Cooking Vinyl, featured artwork by Antony Gormley and performances from Paul McCartney, Anoushka Shankar, Imogen Heap and Natty, amongst many others.

Sawhney’s 2011 studio album, Last Days of Meaning, previewed at the Royal Albert Hall in May 2011, centres on a stunning performance from legendary actor, John Hurt, and follows the epic, metaphorical, Dickensian journey of a lonely and intransigent man. His most recent 2013 box-set release ‘ONE ZERO’ was recorded direct live-to-vinyl. Nitin's tenth studio album ‘DYSTOPIAN DREAM’ will be released in 2014.

Sawhney has just finished producing Anoushka Shankar’s album featuring Norah Jones. He is also producing Nicki Wells’ debut album.

Film, TV and Video Games

In 2004, his music for Channel 4’s Second Generation saw him nominated for the prestigious Ivor Novello Award for Film and TV Composition and his subsequent film catalogue includes work from Mira Nair’s internationally acclaimed The Namesake and for the London Symphony Orchestra, Hitchcock’s The Lodger. Sawhney also scored Deepa Mehta’s adaptation of Salman Rushdie’s book Midnight's Children. More recently Sawhney scored for Khyentse Norbu's Vara: A Blessing and Japan in a Day for Ridley and Tony Scott. He has scored ad campaigns for Yves Saint Laurent, Nike and Sephora and Trailer scores include Hollywood release The Men who Stare at Goats.

Sawhney has worked extensively with Cambridge based games developers, Ninja Theory, on their international best-selling and groundbreaking titles, Heavenly Sword, Pigsy and Enslaved, with the latter receiving an Ivor Novello nomination for Nitin’s orchestral score with the Prague Philharmonic. As sole composer for these games, Sawhney has evolved an entirely new range of technical skills for the cutting edge world of motion capture videogame narrative.
Live

An acclaimed flamenco guitarist and classical jazz pianist, Sawhney's musical ability to transcend cultural barriers has gained him much recognition from the classical and pop communities, leading to his unique claim to broadcasting and selling out as artist in his own right for both the BBC Traditional and Electric Proms at London's Royal Albert Hall and Roundhouse respectively. His band has toured the world for decades and Sawhney has performed and scored in recent years with international orchestras to silent films, most notably Franz Osten's A Throw of Dice and Naruse's Yogoto No Yume with the LSO. Nitin conducted the Singapore Festival Orchestra in May 2011 and performed at Toronto's Luminato festival with his band. He has also performed with his band at London's Union Chapel, showcasing tracks from Last Days of Meaning which was released 19th September 2011. Sawhney performed at The Roundhouse, London in June 2013 to a sold out crowd to celebrate the release of his live-to-vinyl retrospective box set ONEZERO.

Sawahney, given his classical background, is a surprisingly experienced and established DJ, spinning everything from Afro-beat and Dubstep to Asian breakbeat and drum 'n' bass. Cutting his DJ-ing teeth at London's tastemaking Fabric nightclub, Sawhney has Dj-ed at the Big Chill, Womad, Womadelaide and across the world at numerous major festivals. Nitin Sawhney Spins the Globe is Sawhney’s BBC R2 show. Further series will be aired in early 2014.

Nitin Sawhney will be accompanied by the following musicians:

AREF DURVESH (Tabla)
Having performed and worked with Nitin Sawhney since 1993, Aref Durvesh is the longest serving member of Nitin Sawhney’s band. Aref’s longevity is a testament to his unique skills as a percussionist, an Indian tabla hand drum player and most importantly his ability to work within any musical environment. He has recorded and performed with Sting, Susheela Raman, Cheb Mami and Jeff Beck. Aref’s father and guide was a disciple of the acclaimed Indian shehnai player, Ustad Bismillah Khan. Aref has skillfully integrated traditional Indian classical repertoire into modern urban, electronic, jazz and hip hop musical idioms, thus making him a uniquely suited to the genre shattering musical stylings of Nitin Sawhney.

NICKI WELLS (Vocals)
Nitin Sawhney has been working with Nicola Wells since September 2009 for live shows and numerous recording projects ranging from full orchestral works to studio albums. Nicola is British born but has an exceptional talent of being able to sing in English, Indian dialect, Arabic and French. As many of Nitin’s performances contain songs with all the above languages Nicola can shift effortlessly from one language to another. Despite having worked with a seemingly innumerable number of vocalists over the course of twenty or more years, Nitin has repeatedly stated that he has never come across anyone else that can sing effortlessly in all these languages. Nicola is now a key member of the band.
